We Grow The Best—
Discard The Rest

G. W. THACKER

LEROY, MICHIGAN

Again, Our Greetings!

Now that the Christmas holidays are past once again, we glad fans settle down in the routine of winter, watching and planning for our spring gardens. Memories of the glories of the stately and gorgeous spikes of bloom last summer incite our enthusiasm as we search the catalogs for more and better varieties of this "Aristocrat of all Flowers." A vision of the stately queen, Mrs. Leon Douglass, perhaps, reminds us that we vowed that we would plant more of them next season; memories of the gorgeous Crimson Glow and Diana bring to mind the even greater beauty of Dr. Bennett, Cardinal Prince and other red beauties; the beauties of Splendora and other small flowered dark varieties make us long for a glimpse of Stanford or Queen of the Night in our own Garden. What real glad grower does not thrill over the names of those Aristocrats, Gloriana, Catherine Coleman, Minuet, Rita Beck and all the rest? Truly, the season of 1927 will be the greatest year ever experienced, if the number of new creations available at moderate prices, is any guide.

Some growers have long intricate guarantees which when boiled down, mean little. We express ours in just three words:

WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION

This means that the bulbs will be of satisfactory size, and quality, and well packed; they must be true to name and healthy. If anything does not please you, tell us before you do your neighbor; then you won't have to tell him. For of course, an occasional bulb will get misplaced; no grower is wholly immune to that. But we strive to keep everything in good order, and hope to merit some of your patronage.

And another thing: Our prices are reasonable, in some cases low in proportion to last year's, but if some reliable grower comes out with lower prices after you receive our list, you need not hesitate to send in order for we will give plenty of extra bulbs to make up for that. Our customers tell us we are extra generous in filling orders; sometimes they even insinuate that we should go to school again and learn to count.

G. W. THACKER
in the 1926 Garden

There are several unusual features in this list. One of the principal ones is the classifying the varieties into four different groups: the better commercials; those just coming into the commercial class; those fine varieties that are now reasonable in price; and the real aristocrats of the garden, mostly rather high in price. We would like to know how this plan strikes you and would be pleased to have you tell us what you think of it.

Our prices are all prepaid anywhere. We appreciate cash but book orders for 25% down, balance before delivery or C. O. D. 5% discount on cash orders from members of A. G. S. or M. G. S.

The Finest of the Commercial Varieties

In this list, we give the better old varieties. A few are comparatively new, but their rapid propagation has placed them in the cut flower clase very early. Many splendid values are found here, and for general cut flower use, this group is supreme.

Some Better Ones

The above list contains fine varieties, but many of them are quite old, and if you are growing for a crowded market, or for roadside sale, you will find some splendid values in the following group. They are more rare, and have only recently become reasonable enough in price to be grown for cut flowers. And for home decoration, they are cheap enough to grow in quantity, yet rare and beautiful enough to cause many exclamations of delight from your friends. By all means plant them liberally. And each is a good investment commercially.

The Elect of the Gladiolus—

WHAT YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR!

This group contains many of the world's finest gladiolus. Different from many lists, we are offering planting stock of nearly all of them. However, in spite of the decreased cost of small bulbs and bulblets, we wish to offer a word of warning, particularly in regard to the latter. While many small bulbs will bloom, yet the spikes will never be as large and fine from small bulbs as from the larger bulbs, and we recommend that those, at least one inch and up be planted when blooms are the main issue. The bulblets being so greatly reduced in price from the large ones, it is quite a temptation to order them; however, germination of these bulblets even in the hands of expert growers is often only from fifty to seventy five percent, except where careful methods are used. So unless you have already had experience in growing bulblets, we would recommend that bulbs be planted.

Many will think that we do this only for our own personal gain—to sell more large bulbs at higher prices. But this is not the exact truth; we do not want to see anyone who is interested in growing glads become discouraged through the attempts at growing bulblets. Of course, in the long run, we would be ahead anyway, but our interest lies more in the customer's satisfaction than the dollars which we receive.

So if you are a collector and like to grow the best for the pleasure to be derived from it, grow these varieties.

If you are a grower, striving to make the most from your glads grow these varieties. They are the commercial kinds of the future, and each is in a class by itself.

THE ORCHID. A fine lavender bloom of the same color and form of a Cattlelea orchid. The petals are ruffled and beautifully lacinated. When this variety is plentiful, and it is prolific, it will be very widely used for floral work of all kinds, as a floret used in a corsage could not be told from an orchid at a short distance. Authorities agree that it is certainly a novelty, and florists are enthusiastic over its possibilities. We particularly recommend the larger bulbs of this variety, as they make many spikes, and very liberal bulblet increase. Bulblets frequently bloom but of course first class spikes cannot be expected from them.

MICHIGAN GROWERS AND AMATUERS

should become members of the Michigan Gladiolus Society. The quarterly bulletin, the first number of which will be issued January 1, is worth far more than the cost of the membership. It will contain many fine cultural articles by those who know, articles on varieties, staging exhibits, foreign importations, etc. By all means join now. And you people who live outside Michigan are also invited, and we feel sure that you will enjoy and profit by our Bulletins.

The American Gladiolus Society is doing a great work for this flower, also, and is one of the greatest, and most rapid growing floral organizations in existence. The Official Bulletin is issued monthly, and contains numerous instructive articles.

SPECIAL!

Dues to the Michigan Gladiolus Society are only $1.50 per year. To the American Gladiolus Society, are $2.00 per year. To any person who will send us a New membership to either of these societies, we offer, absolutely free, five bulblets of that famous early pink gladiolus, BREAK O' DAY.

NOTES FOR 1926 SEASON

In our ads the past season, we promised to tell of the outstanding varieties which we tested. While many are described above, we are giving them here to compare them with others, not so listed.

In red, which includes all shades from scarlet to crimson, the two that stood out most prominently, were RED TORNADO and PFITZER'S TRIUMPH. The former is truly crimson, and, particularly for late flowers, will be one of the most widely grown reds for it far surpasses that most popular crimson, CRIMSON GLOW. PFITZER'S TRIUMPH was really the outstanding variety at the Rochester show the past season, and for size and substance, it is about the best on the market, but it is really an orange salmon, rather than a red. ROODKAPJE is a fine blotched red, also from Europe. PYTHIA was fine. RED FIRE and DIANA are very similar. CARDINAL PRICE was superb, being the very best of its color. SCARLET WONDER always attracts lots of attention by way of its enormous blooms. SUPERBA is a fine thing, differing in color from the others mentioned. Unfortunately, most of the Australian reds were received too late to bloom, but RATA is a splendid dark shade, and IREMEL made a fine spike of rich red, with white throat.

In yellow, GOLD EAGLE was first to bloom, and best of them all. We were sorry not to have had GOLDEN DREAM, as some prefer it for exhibition, but we believe that GOLD EAGLE, on account of its earliness and slender spike will be of more value commercially. YELLOW WONDER from Holland is quite similar to Kunderd's YELLOW WONDER. Both are rather light in color, large and vigorous. NORMA TALMADGE makes a splendid spike, being much better than GOLD. GOLDEN MEASURE was good, as usual.

The number of white varieties was more limited. MRS. HORNBERGER and MRS. PRESTGARD are quite similar in bloom, but the former is stronger and taller, while also a little later I think. PARIVAL and PUREST OF ALL showed up well. The latter merits its name—it is just that—a pure paper white with fine placement, but only moderate substance. Great merit nevertheless, with many flowers open.

In lavender and blue, MINUET is probably the best, but the fine spikes which we had showing were frozen before opening. HEAVENLY BLUE is a variety with a great future. With us it was superb—a pure light lavender blue. MRS. KONYNENBURG is an improved GERALDINE FARRAR, larger, stronger and better propagator. OTHELLO is similar in color. "THE ORCHID" is a distinct new type and well worth while. Our local florist thought it great. BERNARD SHAW is a fine flower, light in color, but great substance. Will withstand any kind of weather.

Closely allied with lavender, we find purple, which includes several foreign varieties of merit. We were very sorry that the Australian WAIRANGI was frozen before blooming. It made a fine clean spike, five feet tall. PAUL PFITZER is a fine live reddish purple, a fine shade, and blooms well from bulb-lets. CHAS. DICKENS is lighter and taller. HENRY FORD, although much denounced on account of the placement was fine, as the cut on another page will show. This spike was grown from a number five bulb.

LADY ALICE was supreme among the orange pinks—a grown-up ALICE TIPLADY. It surely was fine.

The new variety SACAJAWEA is a very unique color and in a class by itself. The tall graceful spike holds many well placed blooms of the finest coppery bronze. A beauty and well worth while.

In the pink class, there are many fine ones. MRS. P. W. SISSON stood out as the finest of them all. This is truly a glorious flower, and for all its splendor, is a most delicate thing imaginable. RITA BECK, too, is destined to become famous. It is similar in color but the form is different. PEARL OF CALIFORNIA was fine—it opens many large florets at a time, and the color is great. For real color beauty, GLORIANA is not surpassed by any glad in commerce. It is truly delightful in its exquisite salmon and gold coloring. The cut was made from a spike from a number six bulb, and does not even do justice to that spike. CATHERINE COLEMAN was splendid—as she always is, showing five to seven six-inch blooms at once. Perfectly placed too. A variety that is not as widely known as it should be, is Coleman's FONTAINE, a dainty peaches-and-cream ruffled flower. It starts blooming early, and continues late, with the cut-and-come-again characteristics of Los Angeles. LONGFELLOW is one of the scarcest glads of all, and one of the very best. It is surely a great cut flower.

BREAK O' DAY proved its earliness by being one of the first half dozen to bloom. It will be widely grown when plentiful. MRS. STANLEIGH ARNOLD is a magnificent thing with the whole spike out at once. VICTORIA FREDRICKS is another fine early pink. TRUDAL GROTZ is a massive spike, and great grower, while MR. W. H. PHIPPS is always great.

There were a number of fine Australian varieties, in addition to those already mentioned. HINEMOA is the most striking of them all being a fine large bloom, heavy substance, and a color of rose pink, flaked black, with great cream white blotches in the center. This variety created a sensation at the East Lansing show the past season and created more comment than any other there. ELEGANCE is a most delicately beautiful bloom, with many open at once. NGARORARO would have been fine had it been staked, but the spike goes down instead of up. Large flowers. MRS. T. RATRAY is quite a famous Australian variety, and was very fine here, but it did not equal Phipps, which the Australians claim it surpasses. Several others KING PEARL, JEAN TENNEY, HEREDION, RENOWN, were good, but the flowers, on tall spikes, were not as large as we expected. We shall look forward to better ones when the bulbs be acclimated next season.

If there are any of the above varieties that you desire, which are not listed in the main body of the catalog, let me know, and I can probably spare a few bulblets or a bulb for your test plot. At any rate we shall be glad to hear from you in regard to any of them

Two Fine New Glads for 1927

SOME GLAD

Here is a commercial variety of great merit. A primulinus grandiflorus of large size and fine form, being very slightly hooded. EXTREMELY EARLY. The past season the large bulb which we had was about one inch, and sent up one stalk which was promptly cut down by a cut worm. In spite of this, it was second to but two varieties, a prim, SUNNY SONNY and GOLD EAGLE, to bloom. Had nothing interfered with it, we are confident it would have been first of all to bloom. Spike is tall, willowy and straight. The color will make it a universal favorite, pure light creamy yellow with two outside lower petals being a deep canary yellow. Extremely prolific, and very strong grower. In color, something like both Obelisque and Claremont, but in several respects, a distinct improvement on these two.

Each $5.00. No small stock for sale.

MRS. W. THURSTON GIBBS

Another fine thing, given us by the originator of SUNSET GLOW. Very tall, with six or more large open florets, of the most beautiful very light amaranth pink, blotched purple. The color is very similar to the popular Vesta Tilly, but it is twice as tall, many more open, and better substance. Blooms well from bulblets—an altogether desirable variety. Its color and fine spike will make it of much value for florist's work.

Each $5.00. No small stock for sale.

The above varieties are sold on a "Satisfaction or Money Back" basis.

NOTE—We have arranged for stock of that great new glad, "MRS. L. E. MILLER," so that we shall be able to offer it as soon as the originator does. A very tall spike, five blooms open, very heavy substance, closely ruffled and perfectly lacinated. Spikes bloom for three weeks. Color is a rich salmon with three lower petals pure golden yellow. Price, delivery Nov. 1928 or later, per bulb $100.00. Bulblets $10.00 each. This is the only place outside the originator where stock may be secured.

Sunset Glow

I saw a glad some time ago;
 A glad I'm sure you'd like to know.
 It was tinted with colors so wond'rous bright,
 Tints that we see in the sky at night
 When the sun leaves a lingering golden glow,
 And the clouds the brightness of crimson, show.

In its throat were gleams of purest gold;
 No lovelier sight could we behold.
 Its petals gleamed with a scarlet hue.
 As gleamed the clouds in the heavens blue.
 This glad I'm sure you'd like to know,
 Is Thacker's glorious SUNSET GLOW.

Nov. 1926.

I. J. Zimmerman.

Although this fine prim, originated by Rev. W. Thurston Gibbs, has been on the market for only a short time, it is making for itself, a name among the finest of the good glads. The above poem describes the color, and we can only add that it is a very vigorous grower, tall, prolific, and an all around good glad, either for cut flower use or for landscaping, where, on account of its brilliant color, it is particularly valuable. Wherever a bright color is desired, and this is frequent, there are few finer glads. For the first time we are offering all sizes and bulbets at reduced prices:
